COME ONE, COME ALL!

To the Bedford County Fair—Everything in Readiness.

Everything is ready for the County Fair next week. If the weather is favorable, the indications are that there will be a record-breaking attendance. Unlike other years, the Fair will begin on Tuesday. Heretofore that day had been opening and entry day, with but small attendance and few attractions. This year Tuesday will be a good day.

Promptly at 1:30 p. m. on that day a special race will be held for gentlemen's road horses. Free exhibitions will be given by Rice Brothers and the Frederick Family. The Osterburg Band will also be present. The music this year will be the finest ever heard at a Bedford County fair. The Osterburg Band is making special efforts to give the public a fine musical program. That band, long noted as one of the best in the county, now numbers twenty-six pieces and, besides the concerts at the grounds each day, will give a concert each evening on the public square in Bedford. This will be one of the delightful features of fair week and will be greatly enjoyed by the public.

Bring Exhibits Early

Exhibitors are requested to bring in their exhibits early and avoid the rush which is sure to come Tuesday afternoon. Articles intended for exhibition should all be in their places by noon of that day. The best thing is to secure entry blanks from the Secretary, J. Roy Cessna, and have all articles properly entered at home. This will save a great deal of time at the fair grounds.

Races, Baseball, Etc.

The races this year promise to be very good. If they are up to the splendid races of last year, the public will enjoy some of the best ever offered in this county. Horse owners from western Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia and Ohio have been inquiring about the races and say they expect to be present with their horses. A number of entries have already been made.

Three baseball games will be played and the number of sideshows and other amusements will be large. Many stock raisers who did not bring their horses and cattle other years, say they will make exhibits this year.

Train Service

The morning and evening passenger trains on the Bedford and Hollidaysburg Railroad each day of the fair will make it very convenient for the people of that section of the county to attend every day, if they so desire. Remember, this will not be a one-day fair. The attractions and races on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday are all alike. One day is as good as another. Even Tuesday will be a good day.

Miss Anna Andrews

Miss Anna A. Andrews, who was found dead in bed at her home on South Juliana Street the morning of September 7, was a daughter of Hiram and Nancy (Robison) Andrews and was born at Clearville on January 17, 1857.

Mrs. Mary Deffenbaugh

Mrs. Mary Deffenbaugh, one of the oldest residents of Bedford, died at her home on Spring Street at 10:30 p. m., Tuesday, September 14, aged 87 years, three months and two days. Deceased was born in Snake Spring Valley and was a daughter of Henry and Mary C. Ritchey. On December 29, 1842, she was married to Henry Deffenbaugh, who departed this life a number of years ago. 20 DEGREE MURDER

Howard Harris, Slayer of John Crawley, Must Serve

SENTENCE OF 14 YEARS

In Western Penitentiary at Separate and Solitary Confinement—Also Pay Costs and Fine of $1.

For his rash act in taking the life of his fellowman, John Crawley, colored, Howard Harris, also colored, was taken to the Western Penitentiary on Monday to begin serving the sentence of 14 years imposed by the court on Saturday. By good behavior this term may be reduced to 10½ or 11 years.

History of the Crime

On August 17 John Crawley and Howard Harris, both colored were digging a ditch for a water pipe to Crawley's house. They had been drinking during the day. About 4 o'clock they had a quarrel, it is said, over an unequal division of the fire water, which resulted in Crawley's receiving the blow on the side of the head from which he died some four hours later.

Crawley was carried a short distance to his home and Dr. S. H. Gump was summoned, but medical aid could not avail; his skull was cracked and death was inevitable.

Harris came down street but soon returned to the home of his father where he was found by the officers who arrested him, in the garret, far back under the rafters. He was taken before Squire H. C. Davidson and committed to jail on charge of assault and battery. Crawley having died he was again arrested on the graver charge on which he was tried and convicted.

The Trial

The case was reached about 4 o'clock last Thursday evening when the empanelling of a jury was begun. District Attorney Sell represented the Commonwealth and Edward M. Pennell, Esq., the defendant. Each juror drawn was subjected to the usual questions in a murder trial.

The Commonwealth having challenged two and the defense 15, the following 12 were left in the box: T. S. Barr, Everett; W. H. Cunard, Everett; W. C. Colvin, Schellsburg; K. E. Gaster, Hyndman; Solomon F. Diehl, Lutzville; Wilson Mock, Lincoln; Philip Turner, Harrison; D. R. Clark, Napier; Charles Crowden, Cumberland Valley; Edward Cramer, King; Elmer Bassler, Woodbury Township; and Lew Coppersmith, West Providence.

A number of witnesses were called and some conflicting stories were told. It is not yet certain whether Crawley was struck with a shovel or a pick, nor is it determined whether Crawley first struck Harris or not, as was claimed by Harris. Evidence was produced to show that Harris had threatened Crawley.

The attorney for the Commonwealth in his plea to the jury did not insist on a verdict of murder in the first degree, while the attorney for the defense plead for a verdict lighter than murder in the second degree.

The Court read a lengthy charge to the jury, defining murder in its different degrees and reviewed the evidence. The charge was fair and impartial, but clearly eliminated a first degree verdict.

The jury having retired, court adjourned the evening session to reconvene Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

When court was called Saturday morning, some other business having been transacted, the jury brought in the verdict already referred to.

Before the sentence was imposed Attorney Pennell made an eloquent and pathetic plea for the defendant and asked the mercy of the Court.

After some excellent advice to the erring criminal the Court imposed sentence and the convicted man was taken by the Sheriff back to the local prison to await his trip to Allegheny where he is now serving his sentence and where he will have ample time for reflection.

Bedford County Fair and Races next week. Don't miss them.

APPEAL TO CIVIL WAR VETERANS

Self Respect Compels Sundering of Political Ties.

GOOD ADVICE TO COMRADES

One Pension Bill Vetted on a False Pretense by a Republican Governor and Another Defeated by Act of Senator Sisson, Republican Candidate For Auditor General.

Veterans of the Civil War are beginning to take notice. For years the Republican party, especially in Pennsylvania, has considered the soldier vote one of its principal assets. The veterans themselves have encouraged this fraudulent pretense, and professing to believe that the war of the rebellion was a conflict between the two parties, have with practical unanimity defeated such grizzled veterans as Wellington Ent, W. W. H. Davis, Richard Coulter and others for the reason that they were nominees of the Democratic party.

Without going into details the fact that fully half the troops of Pennsylvania enlisted in the Civil War were Democrats is susceptible of proof. It is an undisputed fact that Democrats in office have been more generous to the veterans in dispensing favors than Republicans. It was a Democratic state senator, Hon. J. Henry Cochran, of Williamsport, friend and neighbor of C. L. Rue Munson, the present nominee of the Democratic party for justice of the supreme court, who first introduced into the legislature a bill providing for a state pension to veterans of the Civil War and a Republican governor who vetoed it. During the last session of the legislature every Democrat in the house voted for a state pension bill, which was smothered in a senate committee named by Senator Sisson, the Republican candidate for auditor general this year.

"Truth travels with a leaden heel," according to the proverb, and facts tardily make their way through prejudice, but the veterans are coming to understand that it is the Democratic party to which they must look for justice. They are growing old, and there are not as many of them as there used to be. But their needs are increasing as their years multiply, and the political records of the state admonish them that it is time to look to their real friends. That they are following this natural impulse is proved by the following "Appeal to the Civil War Veterans," which has recently been sent out to his comrades in Blair county by a battle-scarred veteran of Altoona:

Comrades—There are times when a man's self-respect compels him to cut asunder the political ties which have bound him, and vote for his dignity, his manhood and his pocket. Such a time is at hand.

You all know how the nearly unanimous vote for a soldiers' pension by the state of Pennsylvania was defeated by the veto of the governor of the state, on the false pretense of there not being any money to pay the amount appropriated. And by him was referred to a committee that he had created. All attempts to get him to have it reported to the senate for action failed—hence he is responsible for it being defeated the second time. Senator Albert E. Sisson is now the candidate of the Republican party for auditor general. It is well known that the Republican management of the party is against soldiers' pensions by the state. As the law prohibits them from running Governor "for re," are they now propose to reward S. R. Sisson for killing the Pennsylvania soldiers' pension bill by electing him to the office of auditor general?

If you, the soldiers and elect him vote for Senator Sisson and elect him as auditor general, it will be a plain declaration that you don't want a Pennsylvania soldiers' pension bill enacted.

If you defeat Senator Sisson, as you have the votes to do, the next legislature will pass your bill. It is squarely up to the soldiers and their sons. Elect Sisson and your bill is killed forever—Defeat Sisson and your bill will be passed by the next legislature. What will you do?

A REPUBLICAN SOLDIER Altoona, Pa., Sept. 6, 1909

Don't imagine that the tariff-pampered owners of the McKees Rocks Pressed Steel Car company enjoyed themselves while they were signing concessions to the strikers. They came to the agreement very reluctantly and under the belief that it is only a temporary expedient. After the election the agreement will be broken in order to force the workmen to yield. It is simply a "good enough until after the election" affair.

Even the tedious details of a controversy between Commander Peary and Dr. Cook with respect to the discovery of the North Pole will make more interesting reading than the gawdarn narrative of Roosevelt's butchery of harmless wild animals in the jungles of Africa, and the time is coming when we shall have to take one or the other.

Facts

The mistakes we are most willing to profit by are the ones we are going to make—not the ones we have made.

In some places of business, courtesy flies out the window when business comes slowly in the door.

To the pessimist, the peach stone represents just so much less meat of the fruit; to the optimist, the germ of another peach tree.

A NARROW ESCAPE

Edgar N. Bayliss, a merchant of Robinsonville, Del., wrote: "About two years ago I was thin and sick, and coughed all the time and if I did not have consumption, it was near to it. I commenced using Foley's Honey and Tar, and it stopped my cough, and I am now entirely well, and have gained twenty-eight pounds, all due to the good results from taking Foley's Honey and Tar." Ed. Sugar to Preserve Cut Flowers

How to preserve cut blossoms, that is a question. There are those who pin their faith to clipping the stalks every day and giving them fresh water. Others vote for a pinch of salt in the water, or a dash of ammonia or a piece of charcoal. A well-known physician says nothing is better than a lump of loaf sugar in the water.

Grape Marmalade

Marmalade made of fox grapes is good. The grapes should be stripped from the stems and put in a wide-mouthed stone jar set in a deep pan of boiling water. Heat until the grapes begin to soften; then stir with a wooden spoon or paddle. When they are thoroughly crushed and broken, rub through a sieve, rejecting the seeds.

Measure the pulp and to every pint allow one-half pound of sugar. Put over the fire and boil for a half hour, stirring constantly. Put in sealed jars or jelly glasses.

The First "Blue Laws"

The name "blue laws" was given to the first collection of laws framed for the government of the New Haven colony. They were published in collective form in 1650, the volume being in a blue cover, which gave rise to the name that has clung to the laws ever since.

BAD STOMACH

Many in Bedford Are Being Thoroughly Purified by Mi-o-na, the Guaranteed Cure for Indigestion.

People of Bedford who suffer from dyspepsia and other stomach troubles are getting tired of taking preparations containing pepsin, because pepsin simply digests the food artificially. Pepsin relieves, it never cures. And remember, pepsin only digests animal food; it has no effect on starchy food, such as potatoes, rice, bread, etc.

Mi-o-na cleanses and purifies the stomach and bowels, and tones up and puts energy into the stomach walls, so that they properly mix the food with the natural digestive juices of the stomach.

Mi-o-na tablets quickly arouse the stomach from its inaction, and in a few days it is able to do its work easily and without exertion. There will be no more sour stomach, fermentation of food, dizziness, sick headache, belching of gas, or foul breath.

Mi-o-na only costs 50 cents a large box, and is guaranteed by F. V. Jordan to cure dyspepsia, sea or car sickness, vomiting of pregnancy, and stomach sickness resulting from over-indulgence of the night before, or money back.

HYOMEI (Pronounced High-O-Me)

Cures catarrh or money back. Just breathe it in. Complete outfit, including inhaler $4. Extra bottles 50c. Druggists.

THE QUAY MONUMENT IS IN HARRISBURG

In Pennsylvania Station Among Unclaimed Goods.

The Quay monument has arrived in Harrisburg, according to press dispatches from that city, and is among the unclaimed freight in the Pennsylvania railroad freight station. Governor Stuart declines to express any opinion in respect to the ultimate disposal of the effigy, but states that he will lay the letter of Dave Lane, chairman of the Quay monument commission, before the board of public grounds and buildings at its next meeting, together with the information that the monument is at the freight station.

State Treasurer Sheets is ominously silent on the subject. He declines to give even an intimation of what he will do when the matter comes before the board. Auditor General Young is on his vacation, the dispatches add, and can be interviewed on the subject. The current is a commission and Governor Pennypacker named certain gentlemen in pursuance of that act. The senate refused to confirm the appointments, and under the constitution no appointment is valid unless confirmed by the senate.

Thus it will be seen that the effigy was contracted for without authority of law. Then it is recalled that the act authorizing the creation of the commission provided for the erection of the monument in the capitol grounds. During the last session of the legislature, however, Senator McNichol introduced a concurrent resolution, which was adopted, providing for the placing of the monument in the corridor of the capitol. This resolution, if put into operation, would work the repeal of the provision of the act of assembly which directed that the monument be placed in the capitol grounds. Thus the entire affair is without authority of law and consequently invalid.

In the event of the election of Senator Sisson and former Senator Stober to the offices of auditor general and state treasurer, respectively, there will be no doubt of the outcome of this vexed question. Both Sisson and Stober voted for the act authorizing the creation of the monument commission and appropriating $20,000 to preserve the Quay monument and perpetuate the memory of Quayism and Sisson voted for the McNichol resolution directing that it be placed in the corridor of the capitol. Stober having been retired by an assumed constituency to private life, meantime, both represent the principles of Quayism and are indebted to those principles and methods for all their past and present political favors, and will be glad to vote to thus honor Quayism, the state and outrage the consciences of the people.

THE BRINK IS NEAR

Few Bedford People Know How Near It Is.

Every time you neglect backache, allow the kidneys to become clogged, fail to cure urinary disorders, you get nearer the brink of Bright's disease.

Doan's Kidney Pills will save you from danger.

Proof of it in Bedford testimony. Mrs. Wm. Trout, Spring St., Bedford, Pa., says: "It would take pages to describe all the misery I endured from kidney complaint, in fact I believe I had all the annoyances which accompany this trouble. I had severe pains in my back, which at times radiated to all parts of my body; I gradually ran down in health and finally my ankles became bloated. When in this serious condition I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a box at Dull's Drug Store. The pains and swelling have disappeared and I feel better in every way. I am glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other. Sept. 10-21.

Work Thou For Pleasure

Work thou for pleasure; paint or sing or carve

The thing thou lovest, though the body starve.

Who work for glory misses off the goal;

Who works for money coins his very soul.

Work for work's sake then, and it will may be

That these things shall be added unto thee.

—Kerensky Cox, in the book "Heart Throbs."

Cultivate Friendliness

It is the self-centered hero who lays hold of us—it is ever the comradeship of heroes. Dumas' "Three Musketeers" (and the Gascon who made the greater fourth), with their oath, "Each for all, and all for each," inherit that "kingdom of romance." How seldom one pauses to think of the infinite meaning of friendliness, how little it costs and how ever-widening is its circumference.

Kerosene for Porcelain

Ammonia is an excellent cleanser for porcelain, but when dirt or grease seem to demand an extra agent, use kerosene. It will do the work as thoroughly as a sand soap and will not mar the porcelain. Apply the kerosene with an old cloth, rub thoroughly, and then wash in warm soap-suds.

Lesson XII.—Third Quarter, For Sept. 19, 1909.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, a Comprehensive Quarterly Review—Golden Text, Acts xix, 20—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

LESSON I.—Paul's second missionary journey—Antioch to Philippi—Acts xvi, 6-15. Golden Text, Acts xvi, 9, "Come over into Macedonia and help us." The lessons of this quarter cover Paul's second and third missionary tours and illustrate the things that even to this day may befall the Spirit filled and Spirit sent servants of the Lord. Souls will be saved, companies of believers gathered, but there must be faithful and persistent seed sowing, patient waiting and absolute surrender to the Spirit's control and guidance.

LESSON II.—The Philippian Jailer, Acts xvi, 25-40. Golden Text, Acts xvi, 31, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved and thy house." A most unlikely convert, at a most unlikely time, in a most unlikely place, but thus God works, not as we would think or expect, but as He sees best, asking us to be willing to suffer with and for Him, who bore so much for us, and praise Him through it all, if only souls may be saved by seeing His power and believing in Him.

LESSON III.—Paul at Thessalonica and Berea, Acts xvii, 1-15. Golden Text, Ps. cxix, 11, "Thy word have I hid in mine heart, that I might not sin against Thee." Everywhere God works by His Spirit, through His word as Jesus is preached. The Spirit uses only His word as the means by which He accomplishes the will of God. The written word tells of the living word, and by the word God is revealed, even as the Lord revealed Himself to Samuel by the word of the Lord (1 Sam. iii, 21).

LESSON IV.—Paul at Athens, Acts xvii, 22-34. Golden Text, John iv, 24, "God is a Spirit, and they that worship Him must worship Him in Spirit and in Truth." The great adversary is content to let men worship any kind of a god and as many gods as they please if he can only keep them from knowing the one true God, the only Creator, Redeemer and Judge of all mankind.

LESSON V.—Close of Paul's second missionary journey, Acts xviii, 1-22. Golden Text, John xvi, 33, "In the world ye shall have tribulation, but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world." God always has a "Be not afraid" for every one who is fearful, whether it be Abram or Isiah or John or Paul or you, dear reader, whoever you are, if only you are a child of God by faith in Christ Jesus.

LESSON VI.—Paul's instructions to the Thessalonians, 1 Thess. v, 12-24. Golden Text, 1 Thess. v, 15, "See that none render evil for evil unto any man, but ever follow that which is good. In this probable first letter which he wrote we have a fair sample of all His instructions. Saved by the grace of God through the gospel of His Son, to serve Him and to wait for His Son from heaven, walking worthy of God while we wait for His kingdom.

LESSON VII.—Paul at Ephesus on his third missionary journey, Acts, xix, 8-20. Golden Text, Acts xix, 17, "The name of the Lord Jesus was magnified." This is the story of Paul's three years at Ephesus when through Him all who dwell in Asia heard the word of the Lord Jesus, and to make manifest the pre-eminence of that name over the evil one and all evil spirits God caused special miracles to be wrought through Paul.

LESSON VIII.—The riot at Ephesus, Acts xix, 23-30, 35-41. Golden Text, 1 Cor. xii, 9, "He said unto me, My grace is sufficient for thee, for my strength is made perfect in weakness." When the name of the Lord Jesus is magnified and the word of God grows and prevails the adversary will surely show his wrath; hence this riot in the name of Diana of the Ephesians whom all Asia and the world worshipped.

LESSON IX.—Paul on Christian love, 1 Cor. xiii, 1-13. Golden Text, 1 Cor. xiii, 13, "And now abideth faith, hope, love, these three, but the greatest of these is love." Consider how much that is outwardly good and praised by men may be in the sight of God as nothing. "That which is highly esteemed among men is abomination in the sight of God" (Luke xvi, 15). The love of God, which is the greatest thing we ever heard of, must be known and believed and the Son of God received before any service can be acceptable to Him.

LESSON X.—Paul's farewell to the Ephesians, Acts xx 2-38. Golden Text, Phil. iv, 13, "I can do all things through Christ, who strengtheneth me." Having been to Europe and being now on his way to Jerusalem, he utters these farewell words. He magnified the gospel of the grace of God, the word of God, and on man's part faith and repentance.

LESSON XI.—Close of Paul's third missionary journey, Acts xxi, 1-17. Golden Text, Acts xxi, 14, "The will of the Lord be done." Services at Tyre, Ptolemais and Caesarea mark the close of this third great journey in the name of the Lord Jesus, but the special reference to be noted seems to be his being forbidden by the Holy Ghost to go to Jerusalem (21, 24), and yet his determination to go, thinking, no doubt, that it was simply the kindness of the brethren and their desire that he should not suffer unnecessarily.

OFFICE BUILDINGS THE FANCY

Ample Room in the Present Building For All the Government Departments, But the Hungry Horde is Growing Ravenous For Spoils.

Sent out as a feeler, but with an evident purpose back of it, was the announcement from Harrisburg last week that the new capitol has been found too small to accommodate the growing number of departments, and that it will either have to be enlarged or the state will have to erect new buildings in close proximity to the capitol, purchasing sites therefor from private property owners.

As a matter of fact there is no casity for more room to accommodate the various departments of the state administration; there is plenty of room in the big capitol at present, and that is apparent to anybody who visits it. Some of the departments occupy suites of rooms in which an entire room is allotted to one clerk, where a dozen clerks could be accommodated. In some departments there may be some crowding, but that is the effect of the multiplying of many offices in these particular departments to make room for heelers and henchmen on the pay rolls. The cry of more room wanted is laughed at by the people who are obliged to be at the capitol every day, but who are not connected with the state administration.

But this semi-official announcement that more room is needed has a very serious object back of it. It is evident that any attempt to enlarge the capitol would result in failure, because the stench of the capitol graft scandal has not yet blown away. It is, therefore, proposed to build near the capitol an entirely new set of buildings, to be known as office buildings. This would not attract as much attention as an addition to the capitol, but it would afford a fine opportunity for grafting, and that is the main object in this move for a big new building to cost at least a million dollars of the taxpayers' money. It is known that the Republican machine needs the money. Since State Treasurer Berry exposed the looting that took from the state treasury over $9,000,000 there have been no opportunities for grafting, and there are a good many hungry and thirsty patriots who will not be denied a whack at the treasury, and they are not particular how it is brought about. These are the men who have devised the scheme for a new office building to accommodate the departments, and they alone would profit by it.

It may be said that any attempt at grafting in connection with the construction of a new building for the state would be instantly detected and exposed. But would it? Not with such a Republican state treasurer and auditor general as the Republicans have placed on the ticket this year. Two worthies of that stripe would be very complaisant officials as long as their friends in the machine were on the job. Sisson, of Erie, as auditor general, and Stober, of Lancaster, as state treasurer, would stand for a good deal to oblige their friends. People who have a knowledge of the game as it is played on Capitol Hill are saying: "Just imagine Sisson and Stober on the board of public grounds and buildings and a new state building being erected. As a majority of the board they could outvote the other member of the board, and they would do it. No matter if the other member is the governor. It would be a fine thing for two men like Sisson and Stober to overrule the governor in a board meeting and order something that would cost the state a big sum of money, for then Stober, as auditor general, would audit the accounts made by the contract, then issue the warrants, pass them over to Stober, who as state treasurer would pay them. Lovely arrangement all around." No wonder people are amused over the story that there is to be a new state building.

But would Sisson and Stober do what they were told to do as state officials? Why not? They took orders when they were in the state senate, and not an iniquitous measure during the notoriously corrupt session of 1902-5 that they did not vote for every machine measure that was sprung. They had to, for they were under orders. With an air of piety Sisson voted for all of the bad legislation, while Stober trailed along and voted just as he was told by the leaders. If they took orders as legislators they certainly would take them as state officials, for that is why they were nominated. They will favor a new state building all right, for it will be a fine opportunity to help their machine friends.

Silence!

The instinct of modesty natural to every woman is often a great hindrance to the cure of womanly diseases. Women shrink from the personal questions of the local physician which seem indecate. The thought of examination is abhorrent to them, and so they endure in silence a condition of disease which surely progresses from bad to worse.

It has been Dr. Pierce's privilege to cure a great many women who have found a refuge for modesty in his offer of FREE consultation by letter. All correspondence is held as sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Women Suffer Agonies from Diseased Kidneys And Most Women Do This Not Knowing the Real Cause of their Condition

These poor, suffering women have been led to believe that their misery of mind and body is entirely due to "ills of their sex." Usually the kidneys and bladder are responsible—or largely so. And in such cases, the kidneys and bladder are the organs, that need and must have attention.

Those torturing, enervating sick headaches, dragging pains in back, groin and limbs, bloating and swelling of the extremities, extreme nervousness or hysteria, listlessness and constant tired, worn-out feeling—are almost certain symptoms of diseased and diseased kidneys, bladder and liver.

DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills have, in thousands of cases, been demonstrated as remarkably beneficial in all such conditions of female organism—affording the most prompt relief and permanent benefit.

As an illustration of what these Pills will do, Mrs. P. M. Bray of Columbus, Ga., writes that she was very ill with kidney trouble, and that she is now well—and that these Pills are what cured her.

They are very pleasant to take, and can in no case, produce any deleterious effects upon the system——as syrupy, alcoholic, liquid preparations are apt to do.

E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, Ill., want every man and woman who have the least suspicion that they are afflicted with kidney and bladder diseases to at once write them, and a trial box of these Pills will be sent free by return mail postpaid. Do it to-day.

LETTER TO JOSEPH DONAHOE
Bedford, Pa.

Dear Sir: Suppose you are growing an acre or two of cabbages; where'll you get your seed? The price of Long Island seed is $2 lb; the Germans send over tons of "cabbage-seed" 50c lb.

Most gardeners buy the German seed; of course, you know they wouldn't pay $2 for cabbage-seeds, when they could get it for 50c. And that's how people do about everything.

Careful people buy the smallest package of each, count-out 100 seeds of each, and grow them a week in a hot-house, then count their plants. They've got 100 Long Island plants and 10 German.

How, do you think, the Long Island cabbage-seed-growers account for that? They'll tell you the German seed is mostly turnip, which looks like cabbage, but isn't.

Why didn't the turnip-seed grow? The Germans had killed it, baked it. What did they bake it for? Dead seeds tell no tales.

There's a whole business in killed seeds. A dealer can get all the dead seed he wants, that look like cabbage and something else; he can mix 'em with actual seeds, a pound to an ounce, and sell you your seeds at whatever price you like to pay and whatever profit he likes to take.

The same with paint; you can paint with whitewash or paint, poor paint or good; you can pay your painters $3 a day for brushing it on. But whitewash is whitewash, poor paint is poor paint, and good is good.

You'd better buy good, and pick-out your good by the number of gallons it takes to cover a job; least gallons, best paint; least gallons, least cost by $5 a gallon; least gallons, most wear.

Better buy Long Island seeds, but try 'em first. Better buy Devos, but try it first. Yours truly

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

HECKERMAN LETTER

Correspondent Visits the "Lady of the Rivers," Beautiful Marietta.

Marietta, O., Sept. 10, '09.

This is said to be the oldest city in the State of Ohio, it being the first settlement under the Government of the U. S. in the great Northwest, which now comprises a number of states, including Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and probably others.

Resting on gently sloping hills near the meeting or running together of the waters of the great Ohio and Muskingum rivers, it certainly is an ideal spot for a beautiful city, which it is, and it justly lays claim to the title of "beautiful Marietta," or "The Lady of the Rivers." It is situated near the southern boundary line of Washington County. The census of 1890 gave it 8,000, while a recent school census gave it 17,000. It is a modern, progressive city, with its many flourishing industries, its magnificent churches, good schools, etc.

Marietta has a never-ending supply of natural gas; gas wells and oil wells being all around and about her. The good house-wife says, "No, dad! No carrying in coal or carrying out ashes; no soot, no smell as if one were far below, but look out should there be a sand hole in your gas pipes and you should enter the compartment with a lighted match." The altitude is about the same as Bedford; no, not so much, for I am just told that it is only 600 feet above sea level in front of the court house. Just think of it, there are twelve miles of paved streets in this city whilst dear old Bedford don't have one. Wake up, do away with the dust and oil, pave the good old town and you will never regret the step taken. It won't cost much and will be a blessing to the housewives whose lace curtains are soiled as soon as they raise their windows, from the great clouds of dust that arise as the auto passes by.

In Marietta they have electric arches over the streets and these shed their bright rays of light farther than any arc light. The water supply is great; it matters not how muddy the river may be, the water is clear and sparkling when you get it, it having been doubly filtered. Here they have splendid street car service. Every half hour cars run to Parkersburg, 12 miles away. Fifty moments from the time you leave the one city you reach the other. The ride is along the bank of the Ohio and the oil derricks are so thick that one can almost touch them as he passes by. Then there is an electric line to Lowell up the Muskingum. It is 12 miles long also. Then there are many lines in the city.

At the mouth of the Muskingum River which is navigable all the year, is the southern terminal of the Ohio Canal system, from Cleveland. It has three daily newspapers, five banks, excellent public schools and one of the best colleges in the state. The city offers to manufacturers many advantages possessed by few other cities. The country around is most fertile and will grow to perfection anything that is planted and cared for. Within a few years it has been learned that this soil is adapted to the growth and perfection of tomatoes, and many acres of these luscious vegetables are planted each year, also melons of the various kinds. These find a ready sale in the near-by cities. They are building a $100,000 postoffice, which, when finished next year, will be a great addition to the city and a convenience to all.

Next is Columbus where the state fair was in full swing. The weather was great, the crowd greater still, and the number and quality of exhibits still greater. Beds were the scarce article. Mine cost me and it was a poor one. All day Monday crowds and train loads of people came pouring into the city, much as they did at Old Home Week in Bedford two years ago. The styles and costumes seen on the streets were as numerous and varied as the sands upon the seashore. Dan Patch, the great pacer, was there and the association fooled lots of people out to the grounds expecting to see the noble horse go like the wind, but it was wind; the horse, they said, was lame and he did not go. "Fooled," said they.

Everyone in this country looks for the baseball news first thing when they get the paper, and each has some comment to make. Of course each has his pet team. All, however, say.

"Soak it Bill,
Poke it Bill,
Swat a single,
Pole a bingle.
Git up and git,
Use your grit.
You can do it,
Nothing to it!
Don't be a slob
Be on the job
Where's your nerve?
Don't let it swerve;
Connect with a curve.
One wallop more
Will tie the score.
Nice work, Bill, nice
Bill you are a brick,
You and your stick
Have turned the trick.
Cut out the booze
And get your dues.
Come back next season
There's a reason."
Yours truly,
M. P. Heckerman.

PERSONAL NOTES

Bedford County Fair and Races next week. Don't miss them.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Harrison and three children, who spent the past two weeks with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Leonard, have returned to their home in McKeesport.

Mr. Frank I. Horne accompanied his sister, Mrs. George Fitzgerald, to Pittsburgh on Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald left that city on Tuesday for Arizona in hopes that the health of the latter will be benefited by the change.

Mr. Ellis B. Davidson, a student at Dickinson Seminary, after spending his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Davidson, on South Richard Street, returned Tuesday to Williamsport.

Mrs. L. E. Mumma and son, Mr. Benjamin Mumma, of Harrisburg, were among the guests at the Emmons-Hickok wedding on Wednesday. Mrs. Mumma is a daughter of Hon. B. F. Meyers, a former editor of The Gazette.

Mrs. A. E. Kuhn, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Davidson on South Richard Street, returned to her home in Pittsburgh Tuesday morning. She was accompanied by her sister-in-law, Mrs. L. J. Gettys, who will make an extended visit among relatives and friends.

Mrs. Sophia Deibbaugh

Mrs. Sophia Deibbaugh, widow of the late Daniel L. Deibbaugh, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. Hoffmeier, in Jeannette on Saturday, September 4, in her 88th year. She had been in delicate health for several years and for the last two years of her life was confined to her bed. She is survived by one brother, William Smouse of Everett, five sons—F. Shunk of Evans City, Michael S. of Grapeville, Daniel B. of Jeannette, Alex. C. of Wilkinsburg and Shannon of Elkins, W. Va.,—and one daughter, Mrs. E. Hoffmeier of Jeannette; also 23 grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren.

Mrs. Deibbaugh's forefathers came from Germany, settling first in Virginia, and from there coming to this county, her father settling on what is now known as the Ashcom farm. Here a family of 12 children was raised, all living to a good, old age, and their descendants have become very numerous and scattered far and wide over the country. She lived in this county until about 12 years ago when, her children having all left the family roof, she made her home among them in Western Pennsylvania. Since the death of her husband seven years ago she made her home with her daughter.

Her death will be mourned by a host of relatives and friends. She was a life-long member of the Reformed Church and was a good woman. Services were held at the house Monday afternoon after which interment was made in the historical Brush Creek Cemetery.

William J. Miller

The obituary of Solomon Miller last week was an error in name, which we wish to correct.

William J. Miller died very suddenly at his home near Reynoldsdale on Wednesday, September 1, of apoplexy. He was in his 39th year and leaves behind him his wife, who was Miss Jennie Moore, and the following children: Ella, Elsie, Anson, Forest, Georgie and Lloyd, all at home.

He is also survived by his father, Solomon Miller, five brothers, and four sisters. By his death the family has lost a kind husband and father and the community in which he lived a good neighbor. Mr. Miller had been a member of the U. B. Church of Helixville for a number of years until last May, when he united with the Evangelical Association at Pine Grove.

The funeral was held on Friday, September 3, at the Reformed Church at Fishertown by his pastor, Rev. Conley. Interment in the cemetery adjoining the church.

John Golden

John Golden was born in Washington County, Md., in 1840, and died at his home at Cypher on Sunday, September 12, at the age of 69 years, five months and 27 days.

The funeral took place from his late residence on Tuesday, the services being conducted by Rev. W. W. Reese of the M. E. Church, of which he was a member many years. Interment in graveyard at the Bedford Forge Church in Hopewell Township.

A Peculiar Case

Harold, six-year-old son of John Roland of near Chaneyville, underwent an operation at the Allegheny Hospital, Cumberland, on Monday for blood poisoning. The case is a peculiar and serious one. The child had been playing, barefooted, in a sawdust bank and complained of his legs hurting. An examination revealed no marks yet the limb swelled to a remarkable size. The boy had been delirious for several days and the physicians cannot account for the poisoning unless caused by the sawdust. The child's mother is dead and the father is with him continually.

To remove Pimples, Blackheads, Blisters and all forms of skin eruptions according to a well known physician, a very easy matter; he says that many are afflicted with some one of the above ailments, and are subject to a great deal of embarrassment on account of the unsightly appearance which they present, and recommends the following simple, harmless and inexpensive treatment. Go to your Druggist and get this prescription filled: Clearola one-half ounce, Ether one ounce, Alcohol seven ounces, mix, shake well and apply to the parts affected night and morning, allowing it to remain on the skin at least ten minutes, then wipe off the powder from the skin. Something New In Kitchen Ware

The "1892" Pure Spun Aluminum Ware is rapidly coming into use for cooking purposes. It is taking the place of agate and enamel ware because while its first cost is a trifle more than ordinary ware, it is really much cheaper in the long run, as it is guaranteed for twenty-five years and will last practically a life time.

The genuine "1892" Ware, made only from pure SPUN (not cast) Aluminum, will not crack, scale, peel, break, scorch or burn.

It looks like silver but weighs only about one-quarter as much, is easily cleaned and handled, and will not rust, corrode or tarnish. Absolutely pure, non-poisonous and wholesome; saves money, time and doctor's bills.

Be sure you get the original and genuine ware stamped with the Maltese Cross. At your dealers.

HUDSON-FULTON CELEBRATION NEW YORK CITY

Three hundred years ago, Henry Hudson, an Englishman in command of a Dutch expedition, with eighteen men, explored the Hudson River from Sandy Hook to Troy in his small craft, the "Half Moon."

One hundred and ninety-eight years later, Robert Fulton established, with his steamboat, the "Clermont," a regular water service between New York and the towns along the Hudson river to the North.

This year, New York City, with sister cities and towns along the Hudson, will celebrate these two achievements by a series of imposing observances, religious, historical, military, naval, musical and literary, extending from September 25 to October 9.

Replicas of the "Half Moon" and the "Clermont" have been built and will play a large part in the celebration. They will be the center of attraction in the great naval pageant on Saturday, September 25. The United States Government will have fifty-two war ships anchored in the Hudson, and Great Britain, France, the Netherlands, Italy, Germany, Argentina, Guatemala, Mexico, and Cuba will be represented by war vessels.

Two great parades of water craft will escort the "Half Moon" and the "Clermont" in triumphal procession past the war leviathans, first in the morning and again in the evening, when all the vessels will be illuminated.

On September 28 there will be a grand historical pageant, and on September 30 a big military parade in New York City.

On October 1, the "Half Moon" and "Clermont" will proceed up the Hudson to Troy escorted by hundreds of river craft, including torpedo boats.

A magnificent carnival parade will be held in New York on Saturday evening, October 2, which promises to eclipse all previous attempts.

The Pennsylvania Railroad, the direct line to New York, with its unsurpassed service of fast express trains, will sell excursion tickets to New York for this period at reduced rates of fare.

Full details concerning specific fares, dates of sale, return limits, and train service may be obtained of Ticket Agents.

Governors of Pennsylvania

SIMON SNYDER—1808-1817.

Simon Snyder rose from a humble environment to the position of chief executive of the state by dint of hard work and determination. He was of German parentage. In 1776 he was apprenticed to a tanner. He devoted all his spare time to study. He was a member of the constitutional convention of 1789. In 1797 he was elected to the house of representatives and for six years served as speaker. His good record as a lawmaker, together with the fact that he had been a formidable candidate for governor against Thomas McKean, brought him favorably before the public as the Democratic candidate for governor, and he was elected in 1808. He served three terms of three years each. Governor Snyder was first to substitute an annual message to the legislature for the address which had been previously in vogue. After leaving the executive office he was elected to the state senate, but served only one session. He died Nov. 9, 1819.

THOMAS M'KEAN—1799-1808.

Thomas McKean was born in 1734 in Londonderry, Chester county. He was admitted to practice law before he became of age. His first public office was that of clerk of the assembly. Mr. McKean was a member of the Colonial congress of 1765 and of the Continental congress of 1776 and was one of the committee which drew up the articles of confederation. He signed the Declaration of Independence. During the Revolutionary war he served as a colonel. A member of the Delaware constitutional convention, he accomplished the remarkable feat of preparing a constitution which was unanimously adopted by the convention. Mr. McKean was chief justice of Pennsylvania for twenty-two years, having been appointed in 1777. In the same year he was elected president of Delaware, continuing meanwhile to represent the latter state in congress. He was elected governor of Pennsylvania by the Democratic party and served for three terms. He died June 24, 1817.

Making Money On the Farm

XII.—Poultry Management

By C. V. GREGORY,
Author of "Home Course in Modern Agriculture"

Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.

GOOD blood counts in poultry as well as in any other class of live stock. If the chickens and eggs are produced for market purposes only they may be improved by purchasing pure bred males of the desired breed every year. At best, however, the flock can only be made high grade by this method. The enterprising poultryman will soon begin to long for a flock of pure breeds. Such a flock, if carefully selected and bred, furnishes a splendid source of income that is largely independent of the market price of eggs or dressed poultry. The demand for choice pure bred eggs for setting and for pure bred males is good and the price very satisfactory. A trade of this kind when once established will add considerably to the income from the farm.

Getting a Start in Pure Breeds.
Even where the flock is kept for market purposes only it pays to have pure breeds. They look better and give more economical returns for the food eaten. The cheapest way to get a start in pure breeds is to buy a sitting, or two of eggs. It is of utmost importance that they be purchased of some reliable breeder; otherwise disappointment is almost sure to follow. Insist that the eggs be not more than five days old when shipped, that they be well wrapped and that the basket be sealed. Have the eggs shipped by express and refuse to accept them if the seals have been tampered with. These precautions are necessary if you would be sure of getting what you pay for. A basket with a handle is the best package for shipping eggs, as it will be carried instead of thrown.

It has been found by repeated experiments that eggs hatched with an incubator do not produce chicks with as much vitality as those hatched under hens. This is not very noticeable the first season, but if continued year after year will seriously impair the vitality of the flock. It is a general practice among successful poultrymen to set a few of the best eggs under hens and use the chickens thus obtained to replenish the breeding flock.

Value of a Breeding Pen.

The plan of having a breeding pen from which to select eggs for hatching is a very good one. In this pen a dozen or thirteen of the best hens in the flock are kept. If trap nest, records have been kept this will determine to a large extent which hens are to be put into the breeding pen. With the meat breeds the size and conformation of the hens are the most important points. For a breeding pen of thirteen hens one male is all that is necessary, but he should be the best that can be secured. Some breeders practice keeping two males, putting one in with the hens one day and the other the next. In this way the males are kept in a better condition, and the chickens are likely to be a little stronger. No roosters will be needed in the general flock. Indeed, the eggs will keep all the better for not being fertilized.

The care and feed of the breeding flock should be much the same as those outlined for laying hens in article No. 11. The main thing is to keep them healthy. Do not overfeed, but keep them in vigorous condition. If possible the breeding pen should be large enough so as to include a little green feed, such as clover or rape. If this cannot be done a little forage cut and put in the pen every day will be relished.

The sitting hens should have a small house or compartment to themselves. This will avoid the great annoyance of having nests broken up and fresh eggs laid in with those already ready to hatch. This house should be provided with charcoal, grit and oyster shells. A dust bath in which the hens can roll will help to keep them free from lice. Oats, wheat and some sort of green food make a good ration. When very expensive eggs are set it is best to keep each hen in a compartment by herself, as there will be less risk of having the nest broken up. Soon after the chickens are hatched they can be marked by punching a hole through the web of the toe, so that they can be picked out from the rest of the flock in the fall.

Selecting the Incubator.

Although incubators are not well adapted to raising chickens for the breeding flock, they are indispensable to the poultryman who is raising fowls for market. They are more reliable and more easily cared for than hens. They are ready to go to work at any time, so that early chickens can be raised in much larger numbers than with hens. The broody hens can be broken up and will soon go to laying again. Not the least among the advantages of the incubator is the fact that the chicks will be free from lice when hatched.

There are two general types of incubators, the hot air and the hot water machines. The heat in the hot air machine is furnished by currents of warm air which circulate around the egg chamber and in the hot water machine by hot water circulating through metal pipes. The hot air machine is simpler and generally gives better satisfaction.

The two most important points to consider in buying an incubator are the lamp and the regulator, since upon the efficiency of these depends the maintenance of a constant temperature in the egg chamber. The lamp and chimney should be of heavy metal. The reservoir should hold enough oil for twenty-eight to thirty hours' run. The burner should be of brass, with a cotton wick which fits snugly and yet works easily. It is important to use the highest grade of oil that can be obtained, as a steady heat cannot be maintained with cheap oil. The function of the regulator is to raise or lower a valve over the lamp, thus lessening or increasing the amount of hot air that goes into the machine. Of all the many kinds of regulators none works more satisfactorily than the double disk type. The disks should be four or five inches across. If smaller they are not sensitive enough. The regulator should be placed toward the back part of the egg chamber and high enough so that it will be well up out of the way. Avoid incubators that have the regulator lever on top of the machine. Such a lever is always in the way and is liable to be bent or displaced. A machine that has the lever at the end or under a false top is much more satisfactory. There is nothing in the way on top, and it can be used as a table for testing, turning and cooling eggs.

The body of the incubator should be made of well fitted hard wood, with three walls and two dead air spaces, so as to be as little affected by the outside temperature as possible. The legs should be strong and firmly attached. The doors should be of double glass. The egg trays should slide easily, and there should be at least three and a half inches clearance between the eggs and the top of the chamber. The nursery below the trays should be at least four inches deep. This lower space is needed for the newly hatched chicks. This nursery is sometimes made to slide out like a drawer. This is a great convenience in removing the chickens.

A small hole covered with a removable slide will provide all the ventilation needed in addition to that obtained when the doors are open for turning the eggs. A wet sponge kept under the egg trays will usually furnish sufficient moisture. The amount of moisture needed can be determined by the size of the air cell in the big end of the egg. If this gets to be more than one-fifth the size of the egg more moisture should be supplied.

Handling the Incubator.

There is no better place for the incubator than a clean, dry cellar. It should be run empty for at least a day before the eggs are put in, so as to get the flame and regulator adjusted. The flame should be clean and bright and the regulator set so as to maintain a constant temperature of 100 F.

It takes a day or two to get the eggs warmed up after they are put in. By the third day the thermometer should

At the time the eggs should be tested the third day and infected or dead ones taken out. The eggs should be turned every morning until the nineteenth day. This can be done by rolling them over with the hand or placing another tray over them and turning them completely over. After turning they should be left out ten or fifteen minutes to cool. After the nineteenth day the incubator should be kept closed until the hatch is about completed.

The chickens should be left in the incubator for twenty-four hours or longer after hatching. After that they may be given to broody hens that have been saved up for that purpose or placed in brooders. A good brooder run at a proper temperature is much more satisfactory than pens for raising chickens on a large scale. A type in which the heat comes up in the middle, with one or more circular partitions of cloth reaching nearly to the floor, is the most satisfactory.

Has Some Friend Told You of Foods Shot from Guns?

Folks who eat Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice are sorry for those who don't.

So they tell of these foods to others, and the others tell others. That's how the use is spread.

Please ask some housewife to tell you how her folks enjoy these foods.

Or try them yourself. One package of Puffed Wheat, at a cost of ten cents, will reveal a new delight.

You will know, for the first time, how good cereals can be made.

You will see grains that are crisp and nut-like, puffed to eight times their natural size.

You will see grains made four times as porous as bread—ready to melt in the mouth.

You will see grains made digestible—with every starch granule exploded.

And you will see foods that children like better than any foods you know.

Puffed Wheat—10c Puffed Rice—15c

These are the foods invented by Prof. Anderson, and this is his curious process:

The whole wheat or rice kernels are put into sealed guns. Then the guns are revolved for sixty minutes in a heat of 550 degrees.

That fierce heat turns the moisture in the grain to steam, and the pressure becomes tremendous.

Then the guns are unsealed, and the steam explodes. Instantly every starch granule is blasted into a myriad particles.

The kernels of grain are expanded eight times. Yet the coats are unbroken, the shapes are unaltered. We have simply the magnified grain.

One package will tell you why people delight in them. Order it now.
